Corporate Customized Education and Training

Workforce development on company premises and via eLearning

To stay competitive in today's rapidly changing marketplace, organizations routinely offer education and training programs to their specialized workforces in areas of emerging technology, recognized industry practices, organization and values, and professional development. To help organizations achieve their goals, New Jersey Institute of Technology (NJIT) provides in-house and eLearning corporate customized programs.

Customized Programs can be conducted in a variety of topics such as:

- Biotechnology/Pharmaceutical
- Counter-Terrorism, Infrastructure and Homeland Security
- Construction Management
- Emergency Management
- Energy
- Environmental Health and Safety
- Finance
- Information Technology
- Logistics
- Project Management
- Science/Technology
- Unix Administration

Customized Education

Customized NJIT degrees and academic certificates can be brought on-site at your company or customized and conducted at a location convenient to a consortium of companies.

Customized Training

NJIT provides no cost assistance in designing customized training programs. Often such classes enable your employees to become certified and/or earn Continuing Educational Units (CEUs) or Professional Development Hours.

NJIT as Your eLearning Partner

With nearly 30 years of experience in instructor-led eLearning programs, NJIT helps organizations that require rapid training of their workforces improve the impact and delivery of their training programs. In this way your organization can effectively reach your workforce through eTraining classes that use either your or our training materials and your or our instructors.

NJIT Continuing Professional Education has educated and trained, since 1990, through face-to-face and eLearning course delivery, more than 58,000 New Jersey employees associated with over 550 companies.
NJ Department of Labor and Workforce Development Training Grants

NJIT Continuing Professional Education works with New Jersey-based organizations to help obtain training grants from the New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development. CPE helps conduct needs analysis, the actual drafting of the grant application, procuring instructors, and administering the program. (Note: NJIT does not charge the applicant any fees for this service.)

About the Program

Customized Training is a component of the Workforce Development Partnership program, which was authorized by the 1992 New Jersey Employment and Workforce Development Act. The objective of the Customized Training program is to enhance the creation and retention of high wage, high skill jobs in New Jersey through comprehensive workforce training and to assist in building a highly skilled productive, globally competitive workforce. Millions of dollars are allocated each year.

Eligibility / Conditions

To be eligible for Customized Training funding, the proposed training program must address one of the following needs:

- Creation, retention, or upgrading of labor demand occupations
- Prevention of job losses as a result of a potential facility closing, national or international competition, or changing technology
- Creation of jobs as a result of a company relocating or expanding into New Jersey or starting a business in the state

Application Process

NJIT will assist the applicant in completing the online application process. Part I of the application determines eligibility, and if the Office of Customized Training determines that the application meets the initial eligibility and selection criteria, NJIT will assist in the completion of Part II of the online application that details training courses, and justifies the need and costs to establish the actual amount of the grant request.

For more information, please contact Dr. Gale Tenen Spak at (973) 596-3063 or by email at spak@njit.edu